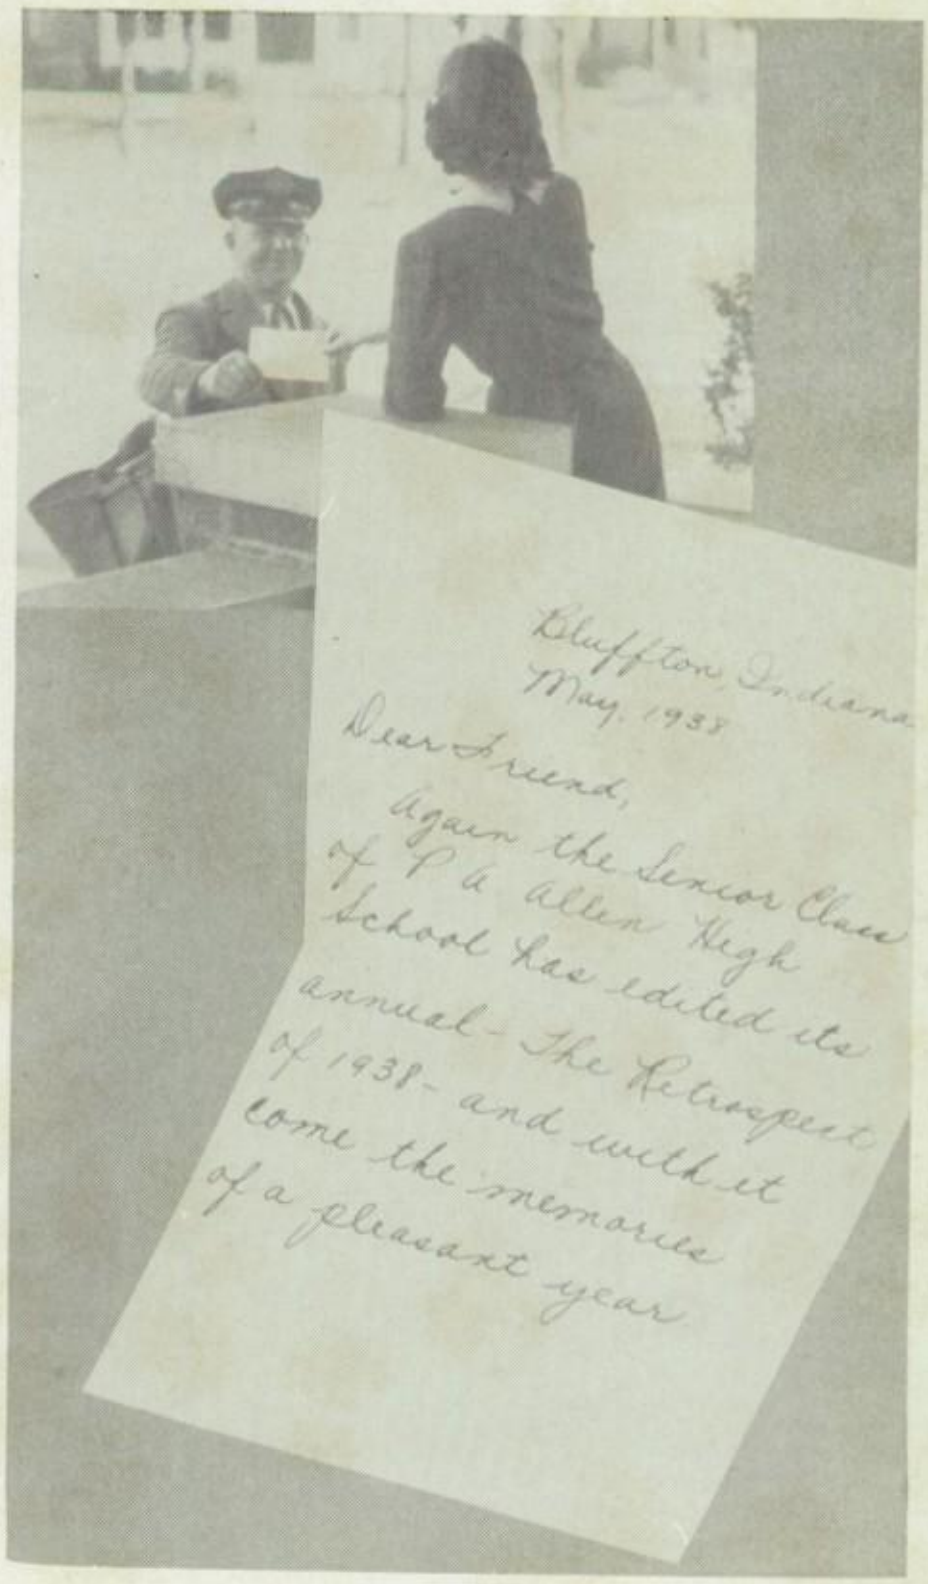
The 13th Retrospect



FOREWORD

We have endeavored to catch a part of the spirit of our high school life, the ideals, dreams, and ambitions of our class.

Later, when we understand more fully what our high school life has meant to us, if then, this Retrospect causes us to live again these years, it will have accomplished its purpose.

DEDICATION

To our Fathers and Mothers, who have sacrificed so much that we might enjoy the advantages of a high school education, we, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-Eight, lovingly dedicate this thirteenth volume of the Retrospect.

Alma Mater, We Salute You!

Our High School Home
Since nineteen hundred twenty-four,
Scene of varied activities,
Through whose portals many have come.

Here we have seen visions,
Here we have dreamed dreams,
Yea, even day dreams.

Keen rivalries have spurred us on,
Victories have been won,
Defeats have been borne with courage.

Romance has flowered,
Discipline has been dispensed,
Friendships lasting and true were formed.

These halls abound in memories and traditions.
We have learned to labor patiently,
We have grown in understanding.

Sorrow may have visited us,
But joy is our usual portion.
Here we have learned of life.

DIVISIONS

Our faculty remained much the same as last year Mr. Blair was secured to teach in the vacancy created by Mr. Willey's promotion to superintendent. Miss Robinson was a new teacher in the Home Economic Department. The years art classes were under the guidance of Miss Miller.

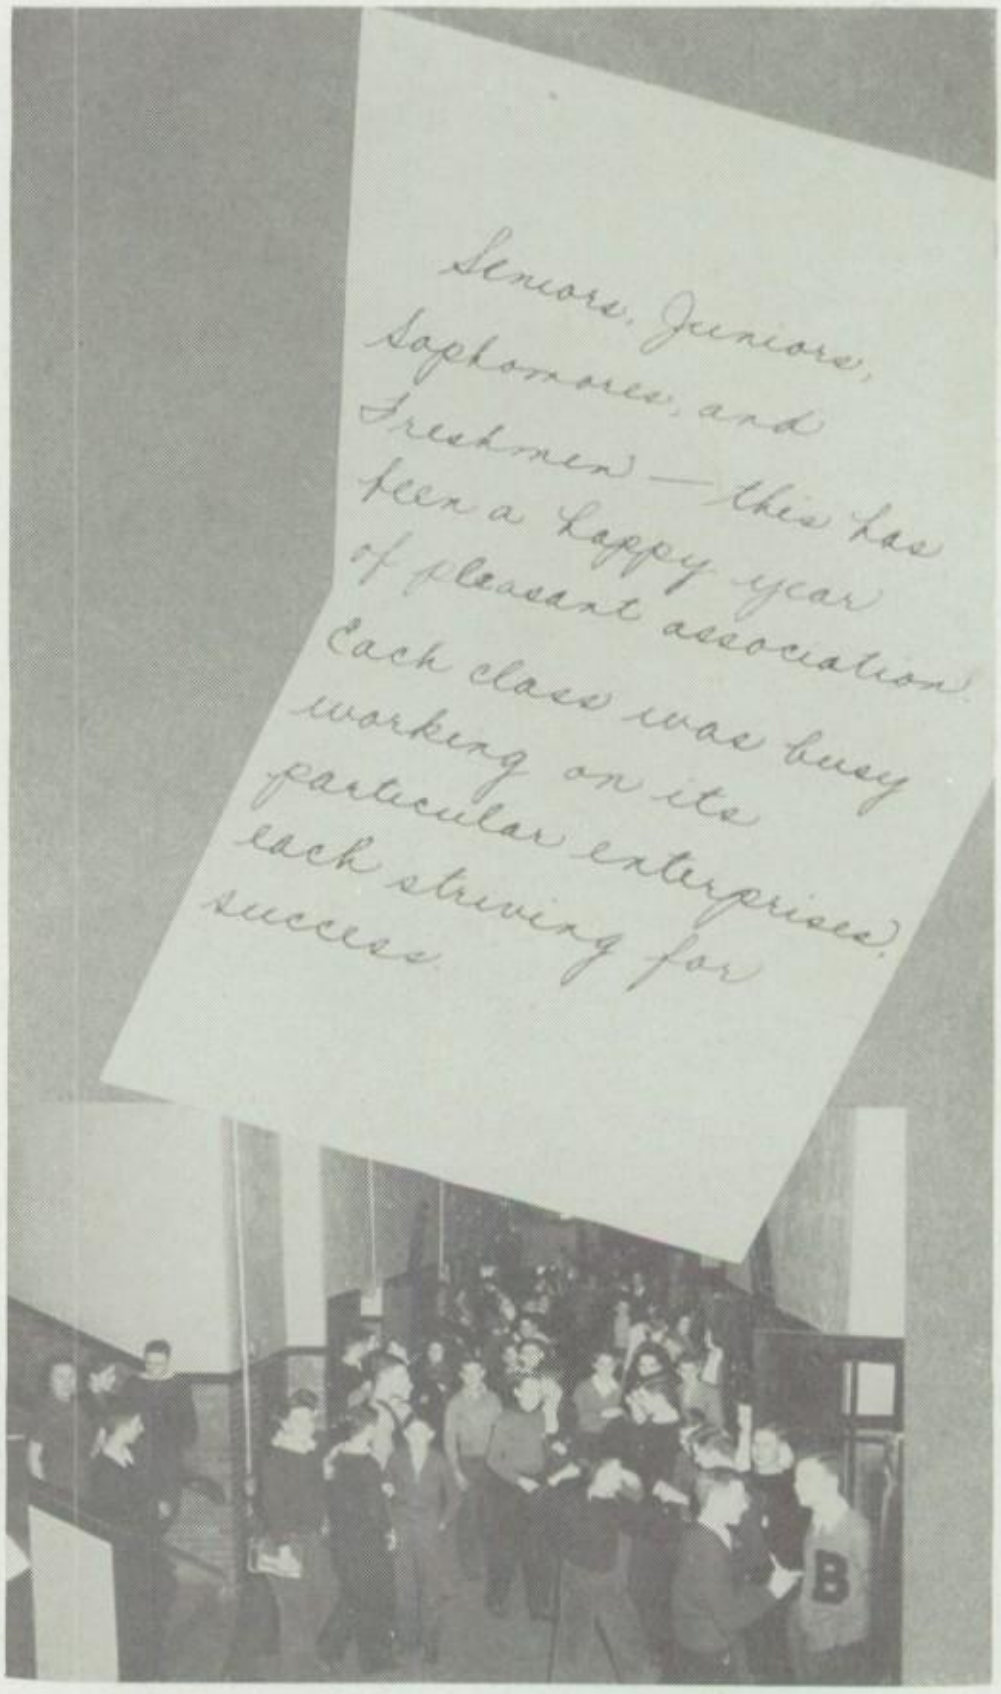
"The library hours are the study hours—" but Mrs. Ratliff can't always convince the students . . . . . Many interesting things transpire in the chemistry class under Mr. Ratliff's supervision . . . . . Mr. Bennett, Miss Shafer and Mr. Blair—the three musketeers. One for all and all for one . . . . . M-m-m-m, we hope it tastes as good as it smells. If we went down to the cafeteria now, do you think Miss Sale would give us some? Or don't you? . . . . . Mr. McMasters seems to be adept in the art of giving geometrical advice to Jack Reiff . . . . . "Listen, my children, and you shall hear—" Miss Shafer telling her typing class what not to do next . . . . . We wonder what Mr. Ulmer seems so interested in. It surely couldn't be U. S. History. Maybe it's a story of the "wild and wooly" West, with cowboys and everything . . . . . Hello to you, too, Miss Robinson. If gymnastics produce smiles like that, we're all for gym . . . . . The photographer catches Mr. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Willey and Miss Sale at the school dance. Those big grins are for the students dancing the Big Apple . . . . . Br-r-r, it's cold, but Mr. McNown doesn't have far to walk to school. From the look on his face I'll bet he wishes summer were here, though . . . . . Miss Powers pauses for the camera man. She looks happy about the whole thing . . . . . Mr. Park is our skilled mathematics instructor.



Seniors, Juniors,
Sophomores, and Freshmen — this has been a happy year
of pleasant association.
Each class was busy working on its particular enterprise,
each striving for success.

Senior Officers

Four Eventful Years

Four eventful years ago in September, 1934, we, the Seniors of 1938, attained the ninth link in our chain of education. Several of our members took their leave to continue in other schools, but our ranks have been replaced each year with new students. Until this time, we had been pupils of the grades, but now we were at last high school students. Although our grade school days had been happy ones, we now were to experience our best times since we had entered upon our quest for education. Those of our ranks who carried us through the year were Emerson Schlotzhauer (Pres.), Bette Wibel (Vice-Pres.), Edith Hayes (Treas.), Jr. Lockwood (Sec'y.), and Richard Neff (Athletic Board). We, the so-called "green Freshmen," were piloted by Miss Welthy A. Shively, Miss Margaret Powers and Mr. E. R. McNown. During this time, we celebrated our "flighty freshmen" year with a party at the old Cherry Street Gym, where we enjoyed refreshments and a thrilling time for all.

In 1935 we again took another step forward when we reached the tenth link of our chain. This was to us even more interesting than the preceding link, perhaps because we had left behind the "green Freshmen" of '34; however, we were still looked down upon by upper classmen, even though we had passed into the stage of the "soft Sophomore." We had at the head of our group Emerson Schlotzhauer (Pres.), Bob McFarren (Vice-Pres.), Edith Hayes (Treas.), Valera Mock (Sec'y.) and Bob Sawyer (Athletic Board). This was one of our big years, and we celebrated it with two smashing parties—one in the Cherry Street Gym and the other, a weiner and marshmallow roast, at Harriet Johnson's. We also sponsored a show, "The Prisoner of Shark Island," which was quite a financial success.

September of 1936 brought about quite a change in our high school lives. We no longer could be looked down upon, because we, the Juniors, were now upper classmen and enjoyed the privilege of looking down upon the "green Freshmen" and the "soft Sophomores." But we still were the mere shadows of the mighty Seniors, our dignified elders. However, even the Seniors had to admit we had acting ability in our class when we presented our class play, "Go Ahead"; and they also had to give us credit for a very entertaining Junior-Senior Reception. We were led through this eventful year by Emerson Schlotzhauer (Pres.), Bob Sawyer (Vice-Pres.), Maro Bradburn (Treas.), Valera Mock (Sec'y.) and Kenneth Marshall (Athletic Board).

Now, we the "dignified Seniors," have reached the twelfth link of our chain and are about to bring to a close our happy high school days. We have leading us, Emerson Schlotzhauer (Pres.), Jack McCray (Vice-Pres.), Mary Geels (Treas.), Bob McFarren (Sec'y.) and Bill Edington (Athletic Board). We are proud of our class for their achievements. In a short story contest, sponsored by the Psi Iota Xi Sorority for Senior girls, prizes were awarded to Rosalyne Heller (First), Maro Bradburn (Second) and Mildred Pursley (Third).

On February 10 the Snow Festival, the first of its kind, was held in honor of the Senior class. Maro Bradburn was chosen as Queen to rule over the festivities that were a part of the program. She was attended by fourteen other girls of the Senior class, having an average of 90% or above for their four years.

Our Senior Class Play, "Button Button," directed by Mr. McNown, was presented on March 17.

Now, before leaving, it is only proper that we express our gratitude for the help and the guidance we have received from our teachers; and it is our hope and aspiration that we can go on achieving and helping others because of the start that they have given us in our lives.

Adrian Sprunger, dignified Senior and faithful athlete, laughs at King Winter's torture . . . . . Like many other B. H. S. boys, Jim Neff and "Ike" Fishbaugh are usually found at some girl's locker . . . . . Joan Hedges and Mary Geels are usually found together . . . . . Lucky boys, Jack Lee and Gene Fuller always get a ride to school . . . . . A faint blush creeps over Bill Edington's face as he feels the photographer's gaze upon him . . . . . An industrious couple! Wava Woodward and Jack McCray spent much time on the Retrospect but always had time for a smile . . . . . Maxine is a Senior and very handy with a needle . . . . . Bob Sawyer and Pauline Schocke give us an idea of what happens at play practice . . . . . Evidently Aldene didn't care to have her picture taken. A cute pose, don't you think? . . . . . Even high school students play "hide and seek." Bette Wibel and Helen Ulmer seem to be enjoying themselves . . . . . Everything good comes by 3's. At least that is what we think about Dorothy Wolf, Lois Decker, and Ruth Hedges . . . . . A worried look appears on Emerson Schlotzhauer's face as he thinks of his duties as Business Manager of the Retrospect.

Jolly Juniors

Advancing in the realms of their education is the Junior Class. At the first of the year class elections were held. Bill Fryback was victorious in campaign for the presidency. He was assisted by Bill Starr, Vice-President. Ruthanna Knoff was in charge of the money, and Lois Shepherd kept the class records. Bob Barnthouse was elected to the Athletic Council.

The class rings, which were chosen by a committee, have the "B" crest and were selected from a choice of ruby, mother of pearl, onyx, or solid gold.

On November 11, the Juniors presented their play, "Little Miss Fortune." Much unknown dramatic ability was revealed.

This class contributed several valuable athletes in both basketball and football. Kinsey, Tonner, Hixon, and Biberstine are worthy of mention.

To lighten the burdens of school, a farm party was held at the Biberstine home. A scavenger hunt was one of the outstanding events of the evening.

On May 20, a delightful reception was given at the new gym by the Juniors in honor of the departing Seniors.

The class was guided by Miss Blanche Karnes, Mr. Lloyd Ulmer, and Mr. Forrest McMasters.

Significant Sophomores

With an enrollment of 94 students the Sophomore Class began their second year in high school.

In the class election, Everett Faulkner was chosen to be President. Bill Fritz was elected Vice-President, and Mary Tonner, Secretary. Rosie Rector was selected as Treasurer, and Jesse Reiff acted as a member of the Athletic Council.

The first financial enterprise attempted by the class was a movie, which they sponsored, "Navy Blue and Gold." A profit of $40.00 was made.

Two parties were held during the year. One, a weiner roast at the Boy Scout Cabin, and later, a party held in the new gym.

The class sponsors are Miss Bess Sale, Miss Mary Shafer, and Mr. Joseph Larmore.

Frollicking Freshmen

Last Fall 119 timid and wide-eyed boys and girls entered our high school. They had reached one of the most important and anticipated moments in their young lives—they were now Freshmen. Their delight and happiness was dimmed only by the domineering upper-classmen who demanded their respect.

In class elections they chose Carolyn Blackman as President, and Peggy Goodin as Vice-President. Barbara Buckner acted as Secretary, and Bud Webber as Treasurer. Charles Speheger was the Freshman representative on the Athletic Board.

Miss McComb, Mr. Park, and Mr. Bennett were chosen as sponsors to guide the class through their first year.

Here are three gay girls with plenty of giggles and more school spirit—Rosy Rector, Mary Murphy, and Letty Williamson . . . . . Adrian Sprunger, Bob Garret, and Don Harris seem to have stopped for a chat before entering school and starting their lessons . . . . . Roger and Bob Sawyer and Si Neff certainly have rhythm as they stroll to school . . . . . Becky Hiatt, popular and alert Freshman, poses for our camera . . . . . Everett Faulkner is happiest when he is eating . . . . . Dorothy Knoff made quite a "pick" when she got herself a "Rose" . . . . . Taken off guard, Betty Griebel reveals her big eyes and quizzical expression . . . . . Jack and Suzie stopped for a visit between classes and became so interested that neither noticed the camera . . . . . Bill Fryback manages to keep warm in his faithful stocking cap . . . . . Folks, there is still a cupid. Alice Ann Louden and Bill Hiatt are a perfect example of what he can do . . . . . A long and enduring romance is that of Marjorie Grim and Junior Lockwood. They find joy in dancing . . . . . Another of our school's constant couples is Ruthanna Knoff and Richard Willey.

Added to the usual activities of the year was the Snow Festival. It was a gala affair and created much excitement. School dances were sponsored by the Senior Class as a source of income.
They were well attended and much enjoyed.

Retrospect Reflects School Year of 1937-1938

The Retrospect was the outstanding literary enterprise of the year. It was edited by a staff consisting wholly of Seniors, chosen by the class sponsors and Mr. Willey.

Wava Woodward was selected as Editor-in-chief and Maro Bradburn as Assistant Editor. Emerson Schlotzhauer as the Business Manager, was assisted by Peachie Sturgis. The Circulation Managers were Max Hauk and Richard Neff. Literary Editors were Mary Geels and Jo Ann Hedges. Bill Edington, Manager of the basketball team, and Jack McCray furnished the athletic news. Those displaying their artistic abilities were Lois Decker and Arthur Tewell. Bob McFarren and Pauline Schocke were in charge of the snapshots. Harriett Johnson and Mildred Pursley edited the School Calendar. The Joke Editors were Joan Sawyer and Edith Marquart. Bob Sawyer and Dorothy Ivins were in charge of the features.

The typists were Aldene Murray, Helen Ulmer, Ruth Hendricks, Maxine Merkey, Rosalyne Heller, and Ruth Porter.

Miss Powers, Mr. McNown, and Miss Shively unceasingly donated their aid in making this Retrospect a success.

Seniors Go Winchell for a Day

The "Walter Winchells" of the Senior Class united their journalistic abilities to publish the Senior Comet, which was sold on Class Day. This issue sold at 10c, and was complete in news, humor, and scandal. It also contained the class will, class prophecy, class history, and awards.

Edith Marquart, who was the Editor-in-chief, was assisted by Dorothy Ivins and Ruth Porter. Joan Sawyer was Business Manager. The Sports Editors were Junior Lockwood and Marion Barringer.

Arthur Tewell and Bernard Wahman were in charge of the advertising.

The Feature Editors were Mary Geels, Jo Ann Hedges, Peachie Sturgis, and Bette Wibel.

The reporters were Rosalyne Heller, Dorothy Chenoweth, and Lois Decker.

Grand and Glorious

The Girl Reserve was first organized in 1934, under the supervision of Miss Bessie K. Sale.

The present leader is Miss Millie Robinson.

Officers elected to lead the club for the year were Wava Woodward, President; Martha Cline, Vice-President; Rosalyne Heller, Treasurer; Mary Frances Rose, Secretary, and Joan Sawyer, Candy Chairman.

Chairmen selected for the different committees were Harriett Johnson, Program Chairman; Pauline Schocke, Service Chairman; Marjorie Grim, Social Chairman, and Aldene Murray, Publicity Chairman.

The "Best Boyfriend Banquet" was an outstanding event, for the girls were permitted to bring their boyfriends.

The Girl Reserves are well known for their charity, especially at Christmas time. They also sell candy, gum, and chili bars at the home basketball games.

The "Mother and Daughter Banquet," which was held on May 6, the Alumni Tea on May 1, and the Freshman Party on May 16, closed the activities for the year.

Hi-Y'd and Handsome

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the high school and community high standards of Christian character."

By living up to the above motto the Hi-Y club has prospered greatly during the past year.

The club, which consists of 56 members, meets bi-monthly from 7 to 8 p.m. at the high school building. During the year special speakers were engaged and parties were held. Reverend Matthew Worthman, who was appointed by school officials to succeed Reverend P. B. Smith as Religious Director, delivered a spiritual message at each meeting.

Near the end of the school term the Hi-Y members honored their best girls at a Best Girl Banquet. This was one of the outstanding social events of the year.

The club acquired its finances by selling pop, candy and ice cream at the basketball games and other school activities.

The officers for the year were Emerson Schlotzhauer, President; Richard Neff, Vice-President; Don Harris, Jr., Secretary; Bill Stogdill, Treasurer, and Mr. Lloyd Ulmer, Sponsor.

On June 13, 1937, the club lost Robert Hannie, who drowned while swimming in the Psi Iota Xi pool.

The Press Is Power

The Comet Class organized the first semester with nine members on the staff. Wava Woodward acted as Student Manager; Arthur Tewell, as Business Manager, and Sarabelle Schlotzhauer, as Circulation Manager.

Edith Marquart, as feature editor, was assisted by Dorothy Ivins. James Redding and Dale Swigert wrote all sport stories and the Exchanges were taken care of by Jack Rowe. Marion Barringer was Make-up Editor.

Many changes were made in the staff at the beginning of the second term. Wava Woodward remained Student Manager, but Edith Marquart advanced to Editor-in-Chief. Rosy Rector and Mary Murphy, new members of the class, became assistants to Dorothy Ivins, now Feature Editor.

Sarabelle Schlotzhauer kept the position of Circulation Manager, and Martha Cline and Letty Williamson, other new journalists, became Associate Editor and Make-up Editor.

Arthur Tewell again served as Business Manager and Jr. Sowards, who joined the class late in the first term, became Sports Editor. Exchange Editors were Ruth Porter and Nancy Clayton. Proofreaders were Rosy Rector and Nancy Clayton, and the News Editor was Marjorie Grim.

Mr. Templin was the Printing Instructor and Miss McComb was the Instructor of Journalism.

To promote the sale of subscriptions, Comet Jr., Papa's Little Helper, was issued free at the beginning of the second semester, and a "Tag day" campaign was carried out during the subscription sale at the beginning of the first term.

They Argue About Everything

The Squabblers' Club for 1937-1938 held their first meeting early in November. The members were Marion Barringer, James Claghorn, both members of the 1936-37 Club, Garnet Mills, Lois Shepherd, Aldene Murray, Rebecca Caylor, Olin Ward Rose, Mervin Smith, Pauline Schocke, Kenneth Reineck and Daniel Harsh. Mr. Edwin McNown was the instructor.

Officers chosen for the season were Marion Barringer, President; Lois Shepherd, Secretary, and Aldene Murray, Treasurer. The club affiliated with the Indiana High School Debate League and became a part of the Twelfth District.

The annual debate tournament, held in the Chamber of Commerce building at Fort Wayne, closed the season. Those teams participating were North Side and Central of Fort Wayne, Concordia of Fort Wayne, Lafayette Central, Elmhurst, and the local club. The affirmative team for Bluffton consisted of Marion Barringer, Garnet Mills and Mervin Smith, alternate; the negative, James Claghorn, Lois Shepherd and Rebecca Caylor, alternate.

North Side of Fort Wayne was the victor.

New Clubs Are Organized

The F. F. A. is a national organization consisting of vocational agriculture students. The purposes of this project are: (1) To develop a competent, and aggressive rural and agricultural leadership; (2) To advance the cause of vocational education in agriculture in the public schools of the United States, and (3) To create and mature a love for country life.

The officers of the club are: President, Dale Higgins; Vice-President, John Langel; Secretary, Kenneth Hannie; Treasurer, Joe Higgins; Reporter, James Claghorn; Assistant Reporter, Vance Travis; Sponsor, Mr. Blair.

The Craft Club was organized for all pupils interested in art as a hobby. The club met one hour each week, working with many interesting crafts, including weaving, beading, knitting and paper craft. Those interested in interior-decorating had an opportunity to construct interior models.

Rosy Rector, who was selected as club manager, took care of all materials for the members. There were no dues in the organization, but each member bought his own material.

We Shall Have Music

Strike Up The Band

The Band has had a most successful year, both musically and financially. With the addition of several new instruments and under the capable direction of Mr. Bennett, it has shown much improvement.

A concert was held on February 10, the proceeds of which are to be used for the purchase of new instruments. The attendance at this concert and at several other events in which the band participated, proved the appreciation of both the students and the community.

The band made regular appearances at football and basketball games throughout the year.

Everybody Sings

Although the Glee Club is considerably smaller than last year, it has upheld the traditions and examples of its predecessors.

Many talented soloists took part in the annual Christmas Cantata, "The Music of Christmas," which was presented at the Presbyterian Church on December 12.

The club also participated in the "Snow Festival" program given at the Community Building on February 10.

The members selected "In Old St. Louis" as their final achievement of the year. It was a historic operetta centered around St. Louis in the fur-trading days of 1806.

Melody Makers

For the past six years, the High School Orchestra has been under the direction of Mrs. Grimsley.

The group has made many public appearances and has furnished music for the class plays, the operetta, and various other school activities.

The orchestra now consists of twenty-six members.

They Keep The Figure Down And The Score Up

The Girls Athletic Association met each Tuesday and Wednesday evenings for bowling, and every Friday for recreation at the gym, under the direction of Miss Robinson. The girls participated in many sports, including basketball, volley ball, tennis and bowling. They enjoyed several hikes and bicycle rides. Friendly rivalry marked all competitive games.

Let The Dance Go On

School dances were a new project of the Senior Class. The aims of the dances were to promote sociability among students and to teach students to dance.

A small admission charge was made, and the profit went to the Senior treasury.

Only students of the high school or those who had graduated previously were allowed to attend.

The dances were held at the new gym, and music was furnished by the Wurlitzer. The dances were chaperoned by the Senior sponsors, Miss Powers, Miss Shively, and Mr. McNown.

"Button, Button"

The Senior Class presented "Button, Button," a three act comedy, written by Maurice Clark, at the Community Building on March 17.

The story was woven around an odd young man known as Button Alexander Woodhouse, portrayed by Richard Neff. His socially prominent family, which consisted of a brother, played by Jr. Farling, who was striving to conquer golf, and an amateur psychiatrist sister-in-law, played by Mary Edna High, considered him slightly unbalanced.

Button tried to limit his ambition to sitting in easy chairs and eating good food, but soon after the play opened he ran into many conflicting forces. First, there was Rita Weed, an antique fanatic, played by Dorothy Wolf; and her daughter, Phoebe, a girl with a variety of new speech, portrayed by Wava Woodward. Second, there was Maude, cook of the household, played by Pauline Schocke, and Josie, the maid, with whom Button eloped, played by Bette Wibel. Emery, the chauffeur, was portrayed by James Neff; and Ed and Al, truckers, were played by Bob Sawyer and Lorin Falk.

Mr. E. R. McNown, head of the English department, served as coach and director for the production.

"Little Miss Fortune"

A light comedy of charm was presented by members of the Junior Class on November 11, 1937, under the direction of Miss Dorothy McComb.

The story was woven around the Cooper family, who had been poor all their lives, then suddenly inherited a large fortune. Their entire life had been a struggle for a bare existence.

Mrs. Cooper, played by Ruth Grandlienard, made and sold potato chips, and Katherine, her daughter, played by Betty Baker, made candy that achieved fame as "Kitty's Kisses."

Much of the humor was furnished by Marjorie Grim as Lily Henshaw, a fourteen-year-old gossip, and Kenny Reineck as William, Kitty's sixteen-year-old brother.

Jerome Patrick, Roger Sawyer, sold "Kitty's Kisses" at his local store. Everyone expected Kitty to marry Jerome but because of ideas of wealth and social position, he shifted his affections to wealthy Augusta Smythe, played by Georgia Burgan. When Randolph Blaney, a boy whom Kitty met at summer camp, came to visit her, Augusta managed to get Randy as well as Jerome from Kitty. Then, in addition to losing her boy friend, Kitty lost her money, too.

The complications were unraveled in a series of amusing incidents.

Vivian Nightengale, a dressmaker, played by Lois Shepherd, Calvin Procter, a lawyer, portrayed by Bill Starr, Mrs. Jason Bindly, Dorothy Davison and Mrs. Baxter Reeves, Betty Lou Grimsley, completed the cast.

Snow Festival Given in Honor Of Seniors

The first annual Snow Festival was presented February 10 at the Community Building.

Under the appropriate setting of winter snow scenes, Maro Bradburn reigned as Queen. This position was gained by popular vote of the entire high school. Jo Ann Hedges, receiving the next highest number of votes, acted as Maid of Honor. The remaining girls of the Senior Class, who had an average grade of 90% or above, served as attendants.

The attendants' attire was of floor-length black velvet trimmed in ermine-like fur. The Queen's gown was of a similar style in white with a white satin train. The Court consisted of the entire Senior Class, who appeared in formal dress.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Grimsley. Those participating in the program were a group of local music teachers and their pupils, who entertained with a piano ensemble, consisting of sixteen baby grand pianos, the Glee Club and the Band, each of whom presented several selections.

Athletics was one of the outstanding hi-lights of the year.
Our Tigers displayed
excellent ability in basketball and football.
The girls are not only devoted spectators, but have gone in for the sports themselves.
Intramural sports served to entertain many boys while others sought fame on the first five.

Row One:

Martin Tonner—Junior—A newcomer who was known for his fancy shots. He will be back next year for a similar performance.

Laurel Kinsey—Junior—A guard, noted for his dribbling and scoring ability, who still has another year in which to show his speed and ability.

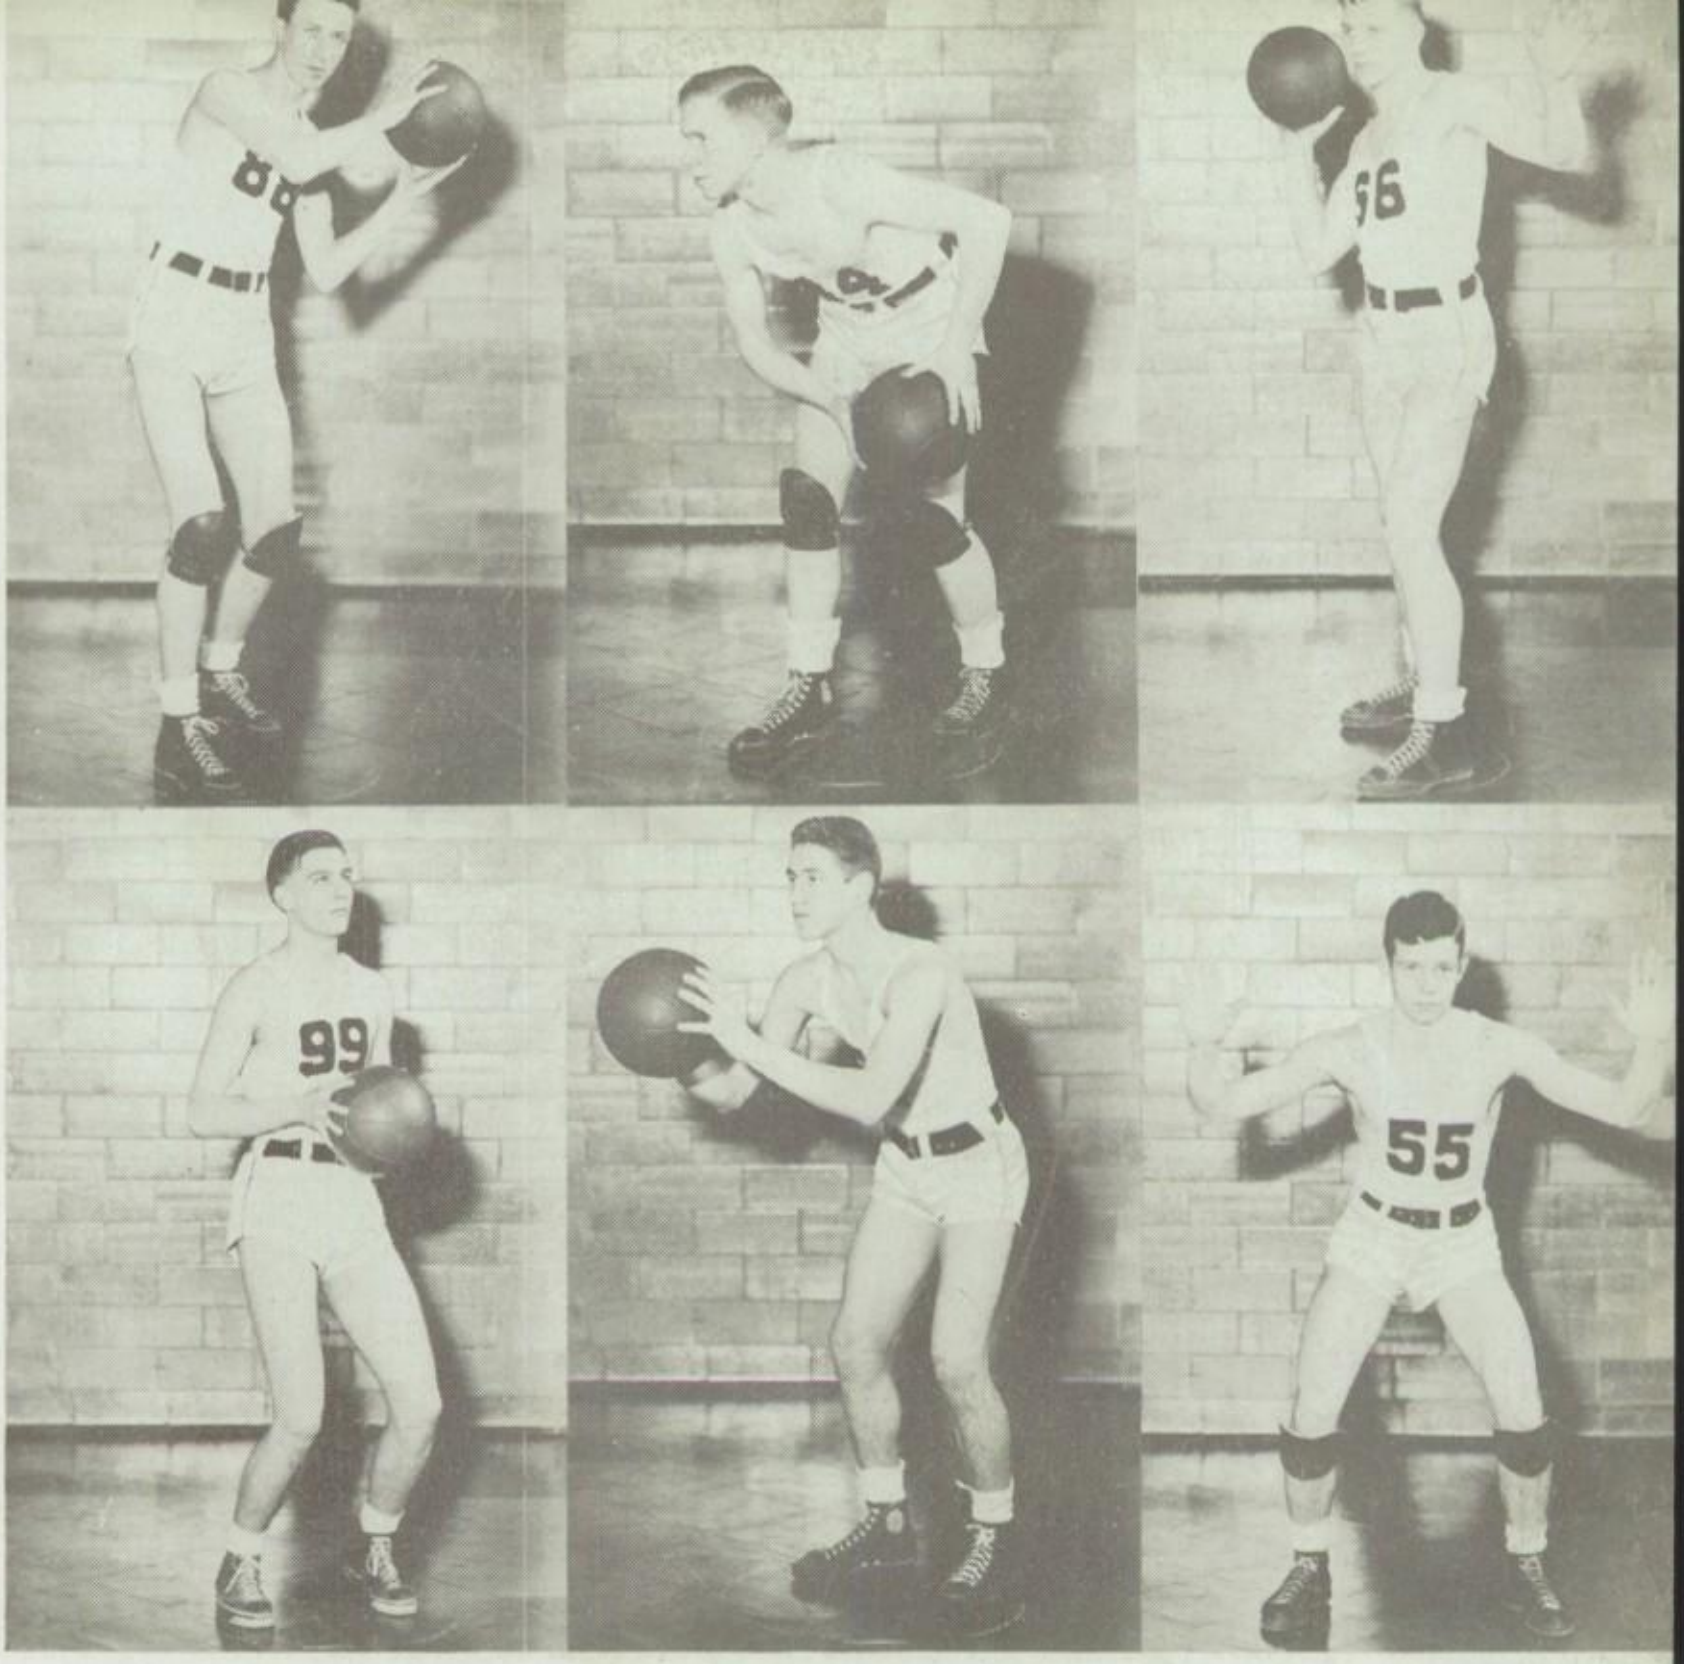
Ralph Shields—Junior—A back guard, known for his shooting ability. He will be back next year to show his stuff.

Row Two:

Bob Garrett—Junior—A newcomer to the varsity. He is small but full of scrap and pep, and will undoubtedly be a great asset to the team next year.

Joe Biberstine—Junior—A great defensive back guard who could sink a long one frequently. He should be very outstanding for B. H. S. next year.

Bill Hixon—Junior—A newcomer at forward this year who is noted for his left-handed hook shots. Bill's presence next year should be a great asset to the team.



Row One:

Isaac Fishbaugh—Senior—Captain and center, noted for his ability on set shots and rebound under the basket. Hank was always there to do his part in winning the game.

Bob McFarren—Senior—An outstanding dribbler, who proved his worth at the guard position in many a Tiger fracas.

Bill Fryback—Junior—A large center whose height will be greatly appreciated on the team next year.

Row Two:

Richard Neff—Senior—A center, who was ever ready to do his share in winning the ball game.

Adrian Sprunger—Senior—When punch or pep was needed in the ball game, he was always there.

Richard Willey—Junior—A guard, known for his fighting ability. He will be back next year.

Tigers Reach Regional

The Bluffton basketball campaign opened this year without much anticipation for a very successful conquest. This idea was changed when the local quintet downed such opponents as Kendallville, Garret and Burris of Muncie. The fans realized that this team, although not very large in comparison to several of the opposing teams, was one of the scrappiest and fastest teams that Bluffton High School has had for some time.

Of the 28 games played, the Tigers came out victorious in 17 and tied 1 in a double overtime with Garrett. They upset all sectional dope buckets by defeating the powerful Ossian Bears, in a last minute thriller, in which Tonner dropped in a free throw to give the Tigers the right to meet Ridgeville in the Regional tourney at Fort Wayne. Here they were defeated in the same manner they had defeated Ossian, when Cope, star forward for the opponents, made a foul pitch to win the game.

Of the first 12 on this squad but four will be lost by graduation this year. This loss will probably be noticed, but with eight experienced men left on the squad, Coach Templin should have a very good team next year.

The Tiger cubs wound up a very successful season by winning twelve of their eighteen scheduled games. This team promises some very good varsity material for next year, as five of these boys were only Sophomores and the rest were Juniors. The boys were not very tall, but what they lacked in height they made up in speed and ability. A good second team is very essential for a good varsity team, for they keep the varsity boys in shape by practicing against them every night.

Intramural Basketball Arouses Keen Rivalry

Intramural was a great success again this year, under the supervision of Fred Park. A greater number of boys participated than ever before.

The games were played every Tuesday evening at the Central gym. Any boys (except lettermen) were permitted to play. Referees, picked by Mr. Park, were Mr. McMasters and Bill Garrett.

Captains of the eight teams were Marion Barringer, Harold Betz, Max Hauk, Bob Case, Jim Neff, Bill Edington, Junior Lockwood and Jack McCray.

The championship was won by Jim Neff and his "Boilermakers" with thirteen victories and only one defeat.

Gridsters Have Successful Year

This year the Bluffton Tigers had one of the most successful football teams that they have had in many years. Starting the season with but six lettermen, none of whom could be classed as regulars, the Templin-coached lads wound up as one of the toughest teams in the conference.

After losing to Central of Fort Wayne 13 to 0 and Warsaw 38 to 6 in the first two games of the season, the Tigers came back to overpower Decatur 13 to 0. This was the first time in six years that Bluffton had defeated them in football. With encouragement from the Decatur game the mighty Tigers next swamped Portland 26 to 0. Improving with each game the local lads held the strong Auburn team to a 6 to 0 win and then chalked up a victory over Columbia City by the same score. Stepping out of their class, they fared far better than expected when they held the Elkhart eleven to a 27 to 0 win. The Tigers had the ball on Elkhart's goal line several times but lacked the punch to score. Then, after battling the Decatur eleven to a 19 to 19 tie in the second meeting of the two teams this season, the Tigers rose to greater heights when they downed the Huntington Vikings by a 21 to 12 count to end the season with four wins, four defeats, and a tie.

Of the above pictured lettermen, but seven, Schlotzhauer, McCray, Sprunger, Harnish, Betz, Shelley and Neff, are Seniors. Of the remaining eleven, nine are Juniors, and two, Fritz and Neuhauser, are Sophomores, leaving a well balanced squad of experienced men around which to build the team of next season.

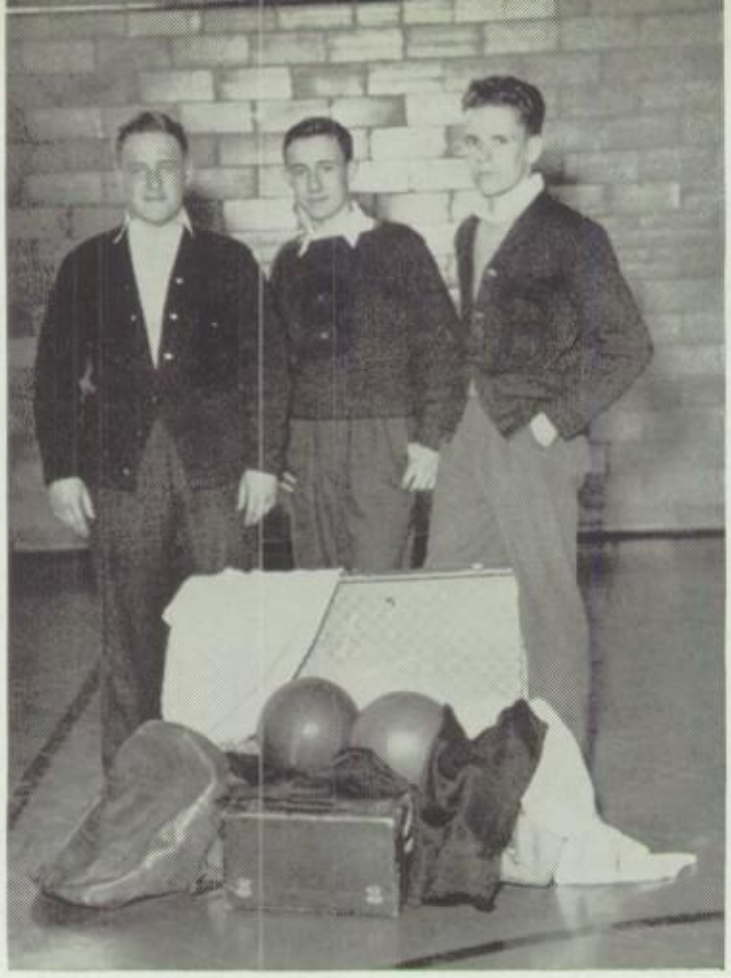
Crowned Kings Of Baseball

The baseball team had a very successful season this year. As seven lettermen were back from last year's squad, the coaches had plenty of material with which to build the team. The greatest handicap was the lack of reserve pitchers. The team was known for its fine fielding in both the infield and the outfield.

This team was also known for its consistent batters. Many of the boys were small, but they had the necessary batting ability.

The team played Warren, Ossian, Decatur, Huntington, Berne, Portland and Hartford City.



Roger Richey, Everett Faulkner, William Edington.

Much credit is due our athletic managers for their capable work. These boys kept all athletic equipment in fine shape and looked after all the needs of the players. They often put more time toward athletics than the players did, as it was necessary for them to check in all suits after practices and to see that everything was in fine shape before leaving.

Richey and Faulkner will be back next year to carry on their work without the aid of Edington who will be lost by graduation.

Friday, May 27—The saddest day of all—we, the Seniors of '38, must say farewell to dear old B. H. S.

Short and sweet, Winnie Stogdill finds little difficulty in getting to ride to school . . . . . Carolyn Blackman and Marjorie Arnold are active Freshmen and have three big years ahead of them . . . . . No one but Maxine could come between the Haflich twins . . . . . Few cares and a lot of fun is Dorothy Davison's motto . . . . . Ned and Fred are two outstanding Freshmen, especially with the girls . . . . . Nina and Maro are one of the school's greatest assets. They are in charge of the book store . . . . . Evidently, Brooks doesn't believe in signs . . . . . Jeane Campbell and Marie Ireland are not camera shy as they pose on the school steps . . . . . Mary Francis Rose and Jennie Grey "keep fit" with plenty of exercise . . . . . Four pretty maids from our school—Ruth Devore, Wilma Vondersmith, Ruth Grandlienard and Marjorie McClain . . . . . Don't worry folks, it is only a trick pose. Really, Jack's feet aren't so large . . . . . My what an appetite! Richard Willey can't stop eating long enough to have his picture taken.

Class Will

We, the class of '38 of the city of Bluffton, in the County of Wells, and State of Indiana, being of reasonably sound mind, fairly good memory, and having some understanding, do make our last will and Testament in the following form and manner to our worthy faculty and fellow students.

1. To Mr. P. A. Allen, beloved of all, the right to see many more classes graduate.
